Dear Chris,

North Yorkshire launches consultation on libraries

The County Council has launched a county-wide consultation on libraries. With the council's budget being significantly reduced over the next few years, including the budget for the library service, we have been considering the changes that we will need to make to the service.

As a result, we are about to begin a three month public consultation on our proposals for the changes to the service which will start on 3rd November and will run until 8th February 2015. All the information, including the survey, is available online, with a series of events being held in libraries across North Yorkshire. Full details are available here www.northyorks.gov.uk/libraryconsultation.

We are looking for your help to publicise the consultation and would be grateful for your support in raising awareness through your networks. We look forward to meeting with you on 4th November.

Yours sincerely

Chrys Mellor
